Pawel Chudzicki founded Miller Canfield Global Strategies in 2019 to provide advisory and consultancy services to government and private sector clients in connection with strategic and policy matters in the aerospace and defense sector.

Pawel's legal career spans nearly 25 years, with a focus on the United States, Central Europe, and the Middle East. His international experience is underscored by his tenure at a previous law firm, where he established the firm's Warsaw office and practiced for five years at the firm's Doha, Qatar office. This diverse background equips him with a unique global perspective in the aerospace and defense sector.

Over the past decade, Pawel has been instrumental in some of the largest U.S. foreign military sales (FMS) and direct commercial sales (DCS) transactions with foreign partners and allies. His close collaboration with manufacturers, embassies, and commercial representatives of the U.S. Government in foreign allied jurisdictions has led to the successful implementation of modern legal structures for foreign military sales programs.

His experience set the foundation for his consultancy practice through Miller Canfield Global Strategies. He represented for several years a close U.S. allied government in connection with policy matters in the United States, implementing a successful outreach to broaden the strategic, defense, and security cooperation, resulting in some of the largest foreign military sales acquisition programs approved by the U.S. Department of State.

Pawel is based in Miller Canfield Global Strategies Washington, D.C., office and shares time with the firm's Warsaw and Doha offices.

In addition to his role with Miller Canfield Global Strategies, Pawel serves in the leadership of Miller Canfield Paddock & Stone as one of its Managing Directors and the Resident Director of the Washington, D.C., office.
